Fairfax

Fairfax has a rich cultural history as one of Cleveland's historically black neighborhoods and is the origin community of Langston Hughes, Jesse Owens, Dorothy Dandridge, Bobby Womack and other notable sources of cultural inspiration. Fairfax is also home to Karamu House, the nation's first inter-racial theater and arts center, as well as numerous historically black churches located in historic buildings.

GardenWalk gives residents an opportunity to showcase their investments in urban sustainability, home renovations and community pride. Currently underway between Cedar and Quincy Avenues, is Innovation Square, a mixed-use, mixed-income development of 500+ new housing units and commercial spaces available for lease. Through Knez Homes, home buyers can build new homes within easy walking distance of Cleveland Clinic.

★ Information Station – 2229 E 97th St

An urban homesteader's garden growing flowers, rocks, vegetable, fruits and chickens.

1 Antioch Baptist Church/Fairfax Community Garden – 8869 Cedar Rd

ABC/Fairfax Community garden grows vegetables, herbs and flowers. We have a combination of raised beds and containers. In certain areas of the garden herbs are growing. Flowers are growing to attract the pollinators and reduces our stress when looking at them.
